The American Mushroom Institute is a national, nonprofit trade association established by Mushroom Growers:

- To monitor and influence government legislation and regulation affecting the domestic cultivated mushroom industry.
- To support, collect and disseminate technical research and information benefitting the domestic cultivated mushroom industry.
- To improve communications among all industry organizations whose actions affect the domestic cultivated mushroom industry.
- To maintain an organizational structure for the Institute which uses available resources to fulfill the expectations of all members in an effective fashion.
- To anticipate and respond to issues affecting the image of the domestic cultivated mushroom industry.
- To collect and disseminate information which increases industry members' ability to attract, develop and retain qualified personnel at all levels of their companies.
- To enhance members' understanding of issues and trends affecting all facets of the domestic cultivated mushroom industry.

Upon approval of this application for membership by the Board of Directors, the applicant agrees to comply with the established By-Laws of the Institute, a copy of which is available upon request. Furthermore, this applicant has a vital interest in the Mushroom industry and agrees to pay annual dues for Associate Membership in the American Mushroom Institute. The first annual payment of $350 accompanies this application. Remittance in US Currency only, drawn on a US Bank or International Money Order.

Contributions or gifts to the American Mushroom Institute are not deductible as charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes. However, dues payments may be partially deductible by members as a business expense.
